

UUSC

2011 Holiday Catalog

COLLEGE
SOCIAL JUSTICE

Each time we make a purchase, we have a choice — and that choice makes a statement. As consumers we have the power to educate ourselves as well as decide which businesses to support and which goods to buy. We can choose compassionate consumption. UUSC has launched a new consumer-advocacy initiative called just that: Choose Compassionate Consumption. This holiday season, we can act together on our commitment to a fair economy by spending wisely, in alignment with our values. As you do your shopping, consider these ethically sourced items from UUSC!

Candles

Travel tins from Prosperity

Be a part of a global movement to empower women through entrepreneurship! UUSC partners with Prosperity Candle to feature products made by women refugees living in the United States. Every 10 candles sold means a woman earns a day's living wage. She can put food on the table, send her children to school, and pay for medicine. It helps her rebuild her life after conflict or natural disaster. And when a woman thrives, an entire community thrives.

Each candle has the name of the woman who made it. You can go to Prosperity Candle's website to read her story and send a message of encouragement or share her story with friends.

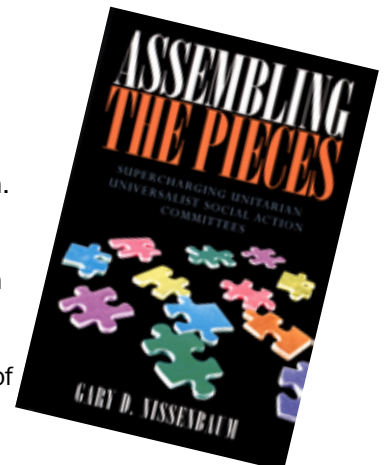

UUSC's 4-oz. large tin candle is a soy-blend wax with cotton wick that will burn for over 15 hours with a refreshing tea-infusion scent. Comes in a gift box.

Books

Assorted titles and prices.

View the entire selection in our online store — including Assembling the Pieces by Gary Nissenbaum, as shown.

Also, follow the link from the UUSC online store and when you purchase ANY book from Powell's bookstore, UUSC will receive a portion of the sale for human rights!

$15 Water bottles

These stainless-steel water bottles are safe, durable, and available in three eye-catching colors. Your purchase helps UUSC and our partners advance the human right to water.
