

Justice Sunday 2017

Supporting communities under siege

When those in power do not protect vulnerable communities.

And portray them as the threat,
not the threatened.

We come together in support and action.

UUUSC

Continuing the effort to defy hate, the Unitarian Universalist Service Committee's 2017 congregational action, Justice Sunday, focuses on supporting communities targeted by harmful policies of the U.S. administration, the Rohingya people living on the brink of genocide in Burma, and refugees around the world.
