

Justice Sunday 2019

JOINING TOGETHER FOR JUSTICE

An annual spring program of the Unitarian Universalist Service Committee, Justice Sunday is a single day of learning, support, and action for human rights. This year's focus is on listening to, learning from, and collaborating with communities on the front lines of human rights issues – particularly climate justice.

In October, UUSC helped organize the First Peoples' Convening on Climate-Forced Displacement, the first-ever international convening of leaders from First and Indigenous communities facing relocation due to climate change. Located in Alaska, the convening was a gathering of 65 representatives from communities living with severe climate change impacts in Alaska, Louisiana, Washington State, the Pacific Islands, and Bangladesh.

This Justice Sunday, we invite you to visit uusc.org/justice-sunday, where you can hear directly from convening participants, take action for climate justice, and make a donation in support of UUSC's worldwide work.

The Unitarian Universalist Service Committee is a 78-year-old human rights organization. Through research, advocacy, and partnerships with over 60 grassroots organizations, UUSC advances human rights in more than 20 countries around the world, including the United States. For more information, please visit uusc.org.

Justice Sunday 2019

JOINING TOGETHER FOR JUSTICE

An annual spring program of the Unitarian Universalist Service Committee, Justice Sunday is a single day of learning, support, and action for human rights. This year's focus is on listening to, learning from, and collaborating with communities on the front lines of human rights issues – particularly climate justice.

In October, UUSC helped organize the First Peoples' Convening on Climate-Forced Displacement, the first-ever international convening of leaders from First and Indigenous communities facing relocation due to climate change. Located in Alaska, the convening was a gathering of 65 representatives from communities living with severe climate change impacts in Alaska, Louisiana, Washington State, the Pacific Islands, and Bangladesh.

This Justice Sunday, we invite you to visit uusc.org/justice-sunday, where you can hear directly from convening participants, take action for climate justice, and make a donation in support of UUSC's worldwide work.

The Unitarian Universalist Service Committee is a 78-year-old human rights organization. Through research, advocacy, and partnerships with over 60 grassroots organizations, UUSC advances human rights in more than 20 countries around the world, including the United States. For more information, please visit uusc.org.